

DISPLAY INSERT

Abstract

The present invention is directed to a display insert capable of insertion in a product for use as an advertising display. Preferably, the display insert is inserted into the central opening of a tire for use as an advertising display for the tire. The display insert includes a front panel section. The display unit further includes a rear panel section connected to the front panel section. The rear panel section includes a plurality of tabs.